

How to be a Fluent Ally to People who Stutter

an Illustrated Guide

What makes someone an ally?

A stuttering ally is a fluent person who is in solidarity with people who stutter and who respects them as individuals.

Why do people who stutter need allies?

H-h-hey g-g-g-uys!
W-w-wasn't that a g-g-g-great shhhhhow?

Maybe you're the one with the problem.

Whoa! Did you hear him?! He must have a problem!

Yes... I heard him just fine.

Allies can provide some extra support when we experience discrimination. You can also help educate others so we have fewer of those experiences.

Allies stay informed

I read this really great article about stuttering...

Allies take responsibility for participating in their own education about stuttering.

We look forward to w---

Allies recognize discrimination, but always privilege the autonomy of people who stutter.

Great resources for allies:

- lsadisastutter.org
- westutter.org
- stutteringhelp.org
- stuttertalk.com
- stutterrockstar.com

70 million people in the World stutter. We need fluent people to be our allies. Whether you know someone who stutters or not, we ask that you step up and join us.

Many thanks to Anthony Wislar,
Chris Constantino and Casey Kennedy

© Elizabeth Wislar and Hope Gerlach

Helping the World better understand stuttering one person at a time.

